Enrol at The Geelong College for a rounded education

With unprecedented growth in the Geelong, Surf Coast and Bellarine region, places at The Geelong College, as well as other schools, are becoming more difficult to find.

"Even though school, or for some families, secondary school might seem a long way off, the time to enrol your child is now, so that you are able to secure a place at a school of your choice," The Geelong College principal, Dr Peter Miller, says.

"At The Geelong College, we have significant waitlists at almost all year levels for 2023 and 2024, and demand continues to be high for the years beyond that.

"It is a privilege for us to serve the Geelong community, and to see such high demand for our school instills a sense of pride, but it does bring with it disappointment for some as there are a finite number of positions available."

The Geelong College now recommends enrolling at least five years before your preferred year of entry, so at birth or soon after for early learning and foundation, or year 1 for year 7 entry. The school understands that for families moving to the area, or for boarding families, this may not be possible and will endeavour to assist with places where possible.

Enrollment applications are processed in date order approximately two years prior to the entry year, with current siblings and the children of Old Collegians receiving priority.

The college's award-winning junior school, which opened in 2020, has allowed an increased intake numbers from early learning to year 3. If you are considering a Geelong College education for your child, the school encourages you to consider enrolling in the junior school where, for 2023 and beyond, there are limited places available.
