A united front at KND Denture Clinic

The staff at KND Denture Clinic are excited to announce the reunion of their team, welcoming back prosthetist Nick from an extended leave period, and celebrating new receptionist Maree joining the clinic.

An experienced industry professional, Maree began at the clinic in early January. Having worked in the medical field for almost 20 years in roles such as medical centre practice manager, Maree is loving the team and the patients at KND Denture Clinic.

"It's a really lovely work environment," Maree says of the clinic.

"The team is such a nice group of people to work with and the patients are just gorgeous!"

Following several years off work due to health requirements, prosthetist Nick returned to the KND Denture Clinic team for part time work in mid-2021, before making his grand comeback to full time employment at the end of 2021.

"Nick is back on board – we've got him working really hard and patients are really loving having him back," Maree says.

"Everyone is really thrilled to have him back and it's really lovely to see."

At KND Denture Clinic, the team goes out of their way to ensure patients experience high standards of care and satisfaction.

In addition to welcoming Nick and Maree with open arms, the KND Denture Clinic team is continually training and upskilling to ensure patients receive the highest quality care possible.

With another conference coming up, the team is excited to learn about new materials and processes, maintaining relevance with current technological and procedural developments.

As well as regular training, the team have been ensuring the clinic keeps up the highest standard of hygiene, maintaining COVID-safe regulations as winter brings more cases to Victoria.

"The health and safety of our patients and staff is of the utmost importance, so people can feel very confident to visit in these challenging COVID times," prosthetist Kathy Danoucaras says.

"If anyone feels unsure or has any questions about the process involved, we encourage them to call to make a time for a consultation so that all questions can be answered as accurately as possible to reduce any confusion."
